Feed-Back: Frank
1. I should organise my front-end methods properly
2. Creating a CI/CD Architecture that has a connection with Clouds that includes my repository, SonarQube, and testing from my local storage.
4. I Start working on My Creating orders and Adding orders for Customer both from the Backend and Front end.

Coenen, Frank F.W.J. (Teacher) a month ago
Research document done
Database connectivity in-place.
Authentication and authorization in BE not in FE
Centralize Axios-command in separate dataservice
Basic FE, crud functionality on Product&User (every cruds actions different page
Some test on de business
Sonarqube is configured into pipelines.
UX report will be done later
CI setup added to the design document. Should be more focused on the "nodes" required for the pipelines to be executed (central gitlab server, gitlab runner, sonarqube instance, developer's machine)
You are still a little bit behind

We discussed that Frank told you to do more on research and asked me what you could add. In my opinion it is already very complete, so I promised to speak to Frank to figure out what he meant with this. I will come back to this.

In any case, what you have so far, is already quite good work.
